

Work in Progress

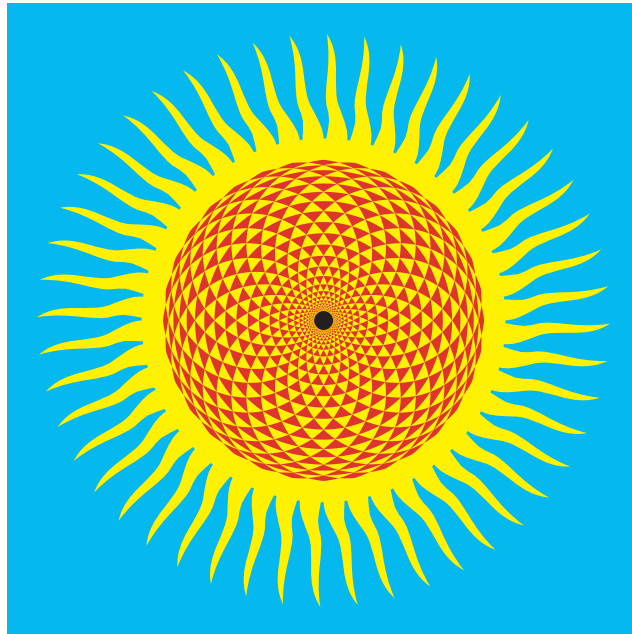

Wholeness

The Union of All Opposites

or

Semantic Principles of Natural Philosophy

Paul Hague

Revealing the hidden harmony and innermost secrets of the Universe: what it is, how it is designed, who we are, our origin and destiny as a species, and how we could live in love, peace, and harmony with each other, our environment, and the Divine, free of fear, conflict, and suffering.

Western civilization is a culture that has reached an evolutionary dead end because it is based on the false belief that we are separate from God, Nature, and each other, whereas in Reality, the True Nature of every one of us is Wholeness.

This fundamental truth of human existence is not widely known because during the past few thousand years of the evolution of the mind, the emphasis has been more on divergence than convergence, leading to religious demarcations, academic specialization, and the division of labour in the workplace. Our minds have thus become fragmented and split, preventing us from returning Home to the Paradise of Wholeness, where we were all conceived, both as individuals and as a species.

Socially, the most critical consequence of this schizoid sense of alienation is that there is no generally accepted scientific explanation for what is causing scientists and technologists to drive the pace of evolutionary development at unprecedented, exponential rates of accelerating change. We are thus managing our business affairs blindfold, rather like driving our cars faster and faster along the highway with our eyes closed. If we do not all wake up soon, there is going to be the most almighty pile-up, to put it bluntly.

To assist with this healing, awakening, and liberating process, this book is a wake-up call for the whole of humanity, not just for those who might read it. Guided by the Principle of Unity—the fundamental design principle of the Universe—Wholeness describes the much sought-for Grand Unified Theory of Everything, the Holy Grail, Apotheosis, and Philosophers’ Stone of human learning, called the Unified Relationships Theory (URT). And the very existence of the solution to the ultimate problem of science should be sufficient to release the abundance of energy that lies trapped in the human psyche, like flower buds about to burst into blossom in the spring, carrying us out of today’s Dark Ages into the much longed-for Age of Light.

The Cosmic Context, metaphysical framework, and Gnostic Foundation for the URT, also called panosophy—the academic discipline that integrates all other disciplines into a coherent whole—is Integral Relational Logic (IRL), a holistic, nonaxiomatic, nonlinear, both-and science of thought and consciousness that has evolved from the semantic business modelling methods that information systems architects use to build the Internet. And the keystone of IRL is the Principle of Unity, which can be simply expressed in just seven words—Wholeness is the union of all opposites—or six mathematical symbols: $W = A \cup \sim A$.

The solution to the great spiritual, psychological, ecological, and economic crisis that humanity faces today is thus to change from an egoic, either-or way of thinking, which has dominated human affairs for thousands of years, to a cooperative, both-and approach, recognizing, with the Eastern mystics, that Consciousness is all there is. It is with this radiant light that we can see both sides of any situation with innate self-reflective Intelligence, the essential quality that distinguishes human beings from the other animals and machines, like computers, but which is so often stultified at an early age by the prevailing cultures of the world.

The author, whose life experience this book is based on, was born in England in 1942 and was educated as a mathematician. He then spent his business career in the information technology industry, mostly with IBM in sales and marketing in London in the 1960s and 70s and in software development in Stockholm in the 1990s. Realizing in 1980 that the global economy is incompatible with the stored-program computer, invented thirty years earlier, and with the Information Age that we were just then entering, he has spent the last thirty years integrating all knowledge in all cultures and disciplines at all times into a coherent whole, necessary to heal his fragmented, split mind in the bliss of Ineffable, Nondual Wholeness, grounded in Love, the Divine Essence we all share.